

Software tools for rock and soil

Education Program Information Form

Instructors from accredited institutions offering geotechnical courses leading to an engineering degree are eligible to join the Rocscience Education Program. Participants must agree to provide a secure environment for Rocscience Education Program software and to only use the software for educational purposes.

Please complete this information form, and return it to us either by email to education@rocscience.com, or by fax to 416-698-0908. Once we have determined your eligibility we will send you detailed registration information.

Please complete the following information:

Name of University / Institution:

Department:

Professor / Instructor Name:

Email Address (Your official university email address please):

University Website:

Names of courses offered where software will be used:

Upon receipt of the information above, we will contact you within a few days. Thank you for your interest in using the Rocscience software.

Sarah Weston
Rocscience Education Coordinator