The Rocscience Education Program expires on June 30th 2016.

All 2015-2016 Education Program licenses will expire on June 30th 2016! If you have not received the renewal form, please contact us at education@rocscience.com for more information on how to renew.

What is the Rocscience Education Program?

The Rocscience Education Program is provided for academic use of the software for teaching and research purposes. The program contains our full suite of Rocscience software and runs on a yearly subscription basis (July 1st - June 30th) for just $250.00 USD per year. The license is installed on a departmental server for greatest access to undergrads, but the software can also be installed on the personal computers of faculty and grad students for use off-campus.

Who is subscribed to the program?

Over 300 universities are subscribed to the Rocscience Education Program, from over 70 countries around the world.

Do I have to fill out the renewal form if I have a 5-year subscription?

Yes, we ask that you fill out the form so that we have up-to-date data on the IT Coordinator, Technical Support Coordinators, and Professors in charge of the license at your university. This will also give you a chance to provide us with some feedback on how you used the program during this year.

Will my program expire if I have a Southern Hemisphere subscription?

No, the Southern Hemisphere subscription runs through the 2016 academic year, and will expire on December 31, 2016. You will receive a renewal reminder towards the end of the year.
